Roundup

WR 36-86

Sept. 19, 1986

The Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture today reported the following developments in world agriculture and trade.

GRAIN AND FEED

CANADIAN Grain Handlers Strike at Thunder Bay. Canadian grain handlers have walked off the job over a salary dispute at Thunder Bay, a major Canadian grain loading facility. Since a significant quantity of grain is currently in the terminal and the unions that load ships have remained on the job, a short strike should have only a minimal effect on grain exports. However, since the strike comes during the critical fall shipping period, a long walkout could substantially disrupt Canadian grain shipments. The last strike by grain handlers occurred in 1981 and lasted 16 days.

Export Enhancement Bids Accepted for YUGOSLAVIA, TUNISIA and SRI LANKA. During the week of September 2-5, the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) accepted bids for 10,000 tons of wheat to Yugoslavia, 25,000 tons of wheat to Tunisia and 25,000 tons of wheat to Sri Lanka.

OILSEEDS AND PRODUCTS

SPAIN'S Soybean Imports Increase. Spain's imports of soybeans in the first eight months of the 1985/86 marketing year rose 24 percent over the previous year. Imports from the United States were 42 percent above the previous year. Soybean meal imports and exports were both down, reflecting discontinuation of the practice of reexporting Latin American, mainly Brazilian, meal. Spanish exports of soybean oil were up 19 percent, mainly as a result of increased sales to China, India and Iran.

BANGLADESH Increases Vegetable Oil Duties. Bangladesh has raised its import duties on edible palm oil and refined soybean oil and adjusted the tariff values (basis on which import duties and sales tax are computed). Imports are still subject to a 20 percent sales tax. Crude, degummed soybean oil will, however, continue to enjoy total exemption from duty and sales tax. These actions resulted in a net increase in import charges of 28 percent for palm oil and 82 percent for refined soybean oil. The changes were made to provide support to the local vegetable oil refining and vegetable ghee industry, and to reduce the incentive to import palm stearin illegally as palm olein and use it to adulterate vegetable oils. With these changes, the prospects for crude, degummed soybean oil imports have improved, while imports of refined soybean oil will not be able to compete with locally refined oil or with imports of palm oil. U.S. exports of soybean oil to Bangladesh have been limited to the P.L. 480 program.

PAKISTAN Increases Tariff on Edible Oil. Pakistan recently raised its tariff on imported edible oil by 12 percent, apparently in response to the decline in international edible oil prices. An additional tariff was imposed on palm oil and palm stearin due to concern over palm stearin being packaged and sold as vegetable ghee. Although ghee manufacturers can receive partial refund of the additional duty, there is now some incentive to use more domestic cottonseed oil or imported soybean oil.

DAIRY, LIVESTOCK AND POULTRY

NEW ZEALAND Considers New Dairy Programs. New Zealand has offered its dairy farmers three voluntary schemes to reduce 1986/87 milk output, but so far, support has been weak and a compulsory scheme may be necessary to curb excess milk production. If support for a voluntary scheme does not improve, a two-tier price system may be introduced; this would mean payment of a low price for marginal or excess production. New Zealand's dairy farmers rely on export markets to market 80 percent of their dairy products. The recent drop in farmers' base price for milkfat from $4.00 per kilogram to $2.25 reflects New Zealand's difficulties in moving excess butter supplies on a depressed world market.

Livestock Estimates Rescheduled. World livestock numbers and red meat production estimates originally scheduled for today will be published September 17.

FRUITS

TAIWAN to Lift Import Ban for U.S. Fresh Pears. Effective September 15, Taiwan will lift its import ban against U.S. fresh pears, opening up a new marketing opportunity for U.S. exporters. The import tariff will be 67.5 percent of the c.i.f. value. Imports must have a phytosanitary document certifying that the pears are free of Mexican fruit fly, plum circulio, apple maggot and codling moth.

HONEY

Honey Production Up Slightly in Selected Countries. Production of honey in 1986 in selected countries is forecast at 620,000 tons, 1 percent more than the revised 611,000 tons harvested in 1985. Production in North America is expected to increase 13 percent from 1985. Unfavorable weather conditions in Mexico's main producing area are expected to reduce production to 47,000 tons, 5,000 below last year's production. Canadian honey production for 1986 is forecast at 37,800 tons, 7 percent more than the previous year, due mainly to favorable weather and improved field crops in the western provinces. Honey production in Argentina for the 1986 season is forecast to drop sharply to 25,000 tons, 20,000 tons less than last year, as persistent rains in November reduced the supply of nectar and pollen in flowers.

The USSR, the world's largest honey producer, is expected to harvest 190,000 tons in 1986, the same amount as last year. A dry summer reduced flowering and thus nectar availability. Also, there was a marginal decline in the number of bee colonies, according to the U.S. agricultural attache in Moscow. Production in the Soviet Union for 1986 thus is not expected to exceed the levels of 1984 and 1985 when production was off due to harsh winter conditions. In West Germany, 1986 honey production is forecast at 18,000 tons, 7,000 tons more than last year's poor crop. Japanese output for 1986 is placed at 5,000 tons, 31 percent less than a year ago, because of a continued decline in the number of colonies, a shrinking floral source and labor shortages. Australia is expecting production to reach 27,300 tons, 9 percent more than in 1985.

CREDIT NOTES

P.L. 480 Actions Announced for TUNISIA and BANGLADESH. On September 4, the fiscal year 1986 P.L. 480, Title I agreement with Tunisia was amended to provide an additional $10.0 million worth of U.S. agricultural commodities. Also on September 4, $12 million was added to Bangladesh's wheat purchase authorization.
